MINKAH
FITZPATRICK

FEELING RIGHT AT HOME

BY TERESA VARLEY
STEELERS.COM

When you talk to Minkah Fitzpatrick, one of the first things you notice is his intelligence.

This is a guy who understands football. A guy who studies football. A guy who picks up the X's and O's with rapid speed.

Last year Fitzpatrick, who arrived in Pittsburgh via a trade from the Miami Dolphins during Week 2, had an uncanny ability to pick up the Steelers' defense at the speed of light. Yes, there were times early on when things were coming at him fast, but he caught on faster than anyone could have expected.

He immediately thrived in the Steelers' defense, first learning his position and what everyone in the secondary was doing, and since then picking up on the entire defense, including what the linebackers and defensive line do.

"I am extremely comfortable in the locker room, in the playbook, things like that," said Fitzpatrick. "Last year I was still learning on my feet, on the run, which wasn't easy. My teammates helped. My coaches helped me. This year it's a different story. I am comfortable."

That level of comfort isn't just because he got help from others. It's because he helped himself. He is a student of the game, and when asked, agreed that yes, he is a football junkie.

"I would say so," laughed Fitzpatrick. "I am not so much a guy who watches other games on television, but I like to break down film. Even when I am watching a game, it's like I am watching film. It's hard for me to watch it regularly because I watch so much film."

"It's my craft, it's my job. If you don't love it, then it's going to be hard for you to be successful at it."

And don't think he's just working on his craft in season, when being on top of things is paramount. No, he watches film in the off-season too, studying his own game play to pick up on things, correct things, and improve his game any way he can.

"I am not going to watch it every single day, but there are days that if I am not doing much, if I have a down day, then I will put it on," said Fitzpatrick. "I might watch an old game of mine and see what I can improve on, things like that. I like watching film."

That dedication, that commitment to his craft, has paid dividends for him. Last year he was selected to the Pro Bowl, was a First-Team Associated Press All-Pro Selection, and earned a slew of other postseason honors after quickly becoming a playmaker for the Steelers.

This year, he is doing much of the same. Fitzpatrick's fingerprint has been all over the success of the Steelers' defense. Through 10 games, Fitzpatrick has 48 tackles, six pass defenses, four interceptions, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery, and intercepted a Baker Mayfield pass and returned it 33 yards for a touchdown against the Browns. The majority of the game-changing plays coming after the first four weeks of the season, is something that doesn't surprise him.

During an Oct. 18 game against the Cleveland Browns, Fitzpatrick intercepted a pass by Baker Mayfield and returned it for a touchdown. ►

"I think it's that things come in bunches," said Fitzpatrick. "The ball has been around me a little bit more. I have been moving around a little bit more, not just in the middle of the field. Teams have to put the ball around me. When you just get to the ball, good things happen."

"I don't put pressure on myself to make plays, but I just really focus on doing my job. When you do your job, even if you are not making huge plays or dominating a game, you are still helping your team. That was the case early on in the season. I wasn't making a whole bunch of crazy splash plays or closing games. I was just doing my job. Sometimes you don't get credit for just doing your job, but it is what it is."

SEASON STATS

48 TOTAL TACKLES 6 PASS DEFENSES 4 TOTAL INT.

When you hear Fitzpatrick say ‘the ball has been around me a little bit more,’ you can’t help but smile. Because the way everyone else looks at it is Fitzpatrick is always around the ball. He just has a knack for it, a sixth sense of knowing where it’s going to be, likely a result of the film study, but also his incredible instincts, natural talent, and his intelligence.

An almost shy Fitzpatrick, who never really enjoys talking about himself, let alone taking a compliment, did admit that his success is a combination of qualities he possesses.

“It’s a combination of those things,” said Fitzpatrick. “I think it comes naturally. I used to be a receiver in high school. Whenever I had the opportunity, even in college, to work at it or do something, I would do some one-on-ones, seven-on-seven, or whatever. I would try to play offense in order to hone in on those skills. Also, it’s the preparation aspect of it. If you know what’s coming, if you know routes are coming at you, if you know where they are going to throw the ball, it’s a lot easier to make the play. I think it’s a combination of being naturally gifted, or whatever you want to call it, and being prepared.”

He’s a tremendous safety... a really great move for the organization.”

—TROY POLAMALU

Fitzpatrick wants one day to be mentioned in the same breath with some of the best who played his position. Players like Troy Polamalu, Ed Reed and Brian Dawkins. He isn’t saying he is where they are at this point. He isn’t looking for the comparison because it’s an ego boost. He wants the comparison because quite honestly, he just wants to be one of the best.

If you don’t love it...
it’s going to be hard for you to be successful at it.”

—MINKAH FITZPATRICK

“That is definitely part of it, part of what motivates me,” said Fitzpatrick. “That natural competitor in me, wanting to be the best at what I do. To be mentioned and listed among those names one day.

“Also, the opportunity that is given to you to impact the people around you and create an opportunity for others through this opportunity that the NFL provides.”

He is off to a good start with those comparisons, especially when Polamalu singled him out at the end of last year in an interview with CBS Sports HQ.

“I think he’s a tremendous safety, and I think that was a really great move for the organization,” said Polamalu of Fitzpatrick. “Anytime you have a defensive-led team, that sort of turnover is so huge. For him to come up with five interceptions...man, it’s hard to come up with interceptions generally in the league. For him to be able to do that, I think, is really awesome and has been a key to the success of the defense.”

At the start of the 2019 season, Fitzpatrick wasn’t a happy camper. He didn’t like how he was being used in Miami and desired a trade.

His wish came true when the Steelers sent their No. 1 pick in the 2020 NFL Draft to the Dolphins, a move that surprised many in football, as it’s a move the Steelers rarely make. But it was a move not many doubted would benefit Pittsburgh.

Fitzpatrick felt at home right off the bat with the Steelers and that feeling grows by the day. It’s home for him, a place where he is thriving in an atmosphere that starts at the top.

“It’s the culture. It’s a great culture,” said Fitzpatrick. “It starts from the top down, with Mr. (Art) Rooney (II) and Coach (Mike) T (Tomlin), to the OC and DC, to the coaches, to the players. It’s the culture that they provide. I have been in places where it hasn’t been the same thing. From the top down it’s a winning attitude. Their constant competitiveness. They’re never complacent, they’re never satisfied, they’re always working, they’re transparent. I think it’s an accumulation of all of those things.”

Fitzpatrick has given Tomlin a big portion of the credit for the Steelers’ strong start this season, from the little things he does like giving the players a break in practice a few weeks ago when he knew guys were tired, to always being available and treating everyone the same.

“It means a lot to have a coach who looks out for his players,” said Fitzpatrick. “There aren’t a lot of coaches across the league that are doing that. I am fortunate and grateful to have a coach like Coach T. He is our head coach, so he deserves all of the credit in the world for us starting off this way. He is a guy that pays attention to all of the details, he is going to voice his opinion on all of the things he sees. He is transparent, which is something I love about him. He is going to keep it real, keep it honest with you. If anyone deserves a big portion of the credit, it’s Coach T for sure.”

The respect he has for Tomlin just oozes as he talks about him. You can tell it's something special, that there is a connection the two have.

"We're around each other a lot," said Fitzpatrick. "There are not a lot of people that prepare like he prepares. He is a guy who pays attention to all of the details. He is a guy who makes sure everyone knows what is going on. He is transparent. He is a tremendous leader and a great coach. Like I said before, if anyone deserves credit for this season, it's him."

And like everyone else in Steelers Nation, he loves what have become known as 'Tomlinisms,' the incredible sayings that roll off the coach's tongue on a regular basis.

"He has had a big impact," said Fitzpatrick. "It's hard to be around a guy like him and not absorb his habits and his phrases and stuff like that because he is a successful man. If you want to be successful, you should be watching successful people and he is one of them. It's easy for me to just do what he does, say what he says."

And what is the one thing that Tomlin says that Fitzpatrick repeats the most?

"He always says, 'It's a great day to make it a great day,'" said Fitzpatrick. "That is a good one. I like that."

66

If anyone deserves a big portion of the credit, it's Coach T."

—MINKAH FITZPATRICK

Maybe it was his time at Alabama, where he was coached by Nick Saban, that made him appreciate those types of sayings. Saban had one that to this day has stayed with Fitzpatrick that goes to the effect of this:

"You either suffer the pain of disappointment, or you suffer the pain of discipline."

As Fitzpatrick explained it's something that can pertain to an athlete or just your average citizen.

"I have been in many different places. I have won championships. I have won a whole bunch of games," said Fitzpatrick. "I have lost a whole bunch of games, too. That saying is extremely consistent. The places where we were unsuccessful is because we were making choices that led us to suffer the pains of disappointment because we weren't preparing the right way. We weren't willing to work a little harder, put the extra time in because you wanted to hang at the places we weren't supposed to be at rather than watch the extra film and sacrifice a couple of extra hours of fun."

"On the other hand, at Alabama and other places, it was the opposite. We were doing all of the extra things. There were multiple guys in the weight room or the film room at 12 o'clock at night. We all saw the fruits of that. Coach Saban is a guy who saw the fruits of that. It's just something that is very practical, very real, and you can see the fruits of that quote every day of your life in everything you do. That is why I like it."

While Fitzpatrick has had multiple coaches who have had an incredible influence on him, the one man who has had the biggest influence on him is his father, Minkah Fitzpatrick Sr.

When they say the apple doesn't fall far from the tree, that is definitely the case here. Both are men who believe in actions, not words. They both believe the way to be successful is through hard work, not through taking shortcuts. They are cut out of the same cloth, two men who worked side-by-side since the younger Fitzpatrick was just 13 years old until college.

"He just showed me," said Fitzpatrick. "That is the best thing, he showed me. I was talking about this the other day. Somebody asked me what was my favorite thing about my father. I said the fact that he provided me a role model. Not everyone is blessed to have a father they can look at as a role model. I was thankful enough to be able to do that."

Fitzpatrick reflects on his time at Alabama, where he played under head coach Nick Saban. ▲

His father is a diesel mechanic and never minded his son getting his hands dirty working on trucks right beside him, doing the dirty work and learning values.

"He is not a big speaker, he is not a big talker, he is just a doer," said Fitzpatrick. "It was easy for me to follow everything he did and even the way he dealt with people, the way he took care of people, my mother, my family. It was easy for me to replicate that because I saw it. It was the same thing at work. I worked with my family since I was 13. I know the work that he does, the work that he puts in."

"Even if it's a different craft, it's still the hard work, blue-collar type mindset that I approach it with."

MIKE TOMLIN

Mike Tomlin was named the 16th head coach in Pittsburgh Steelers history on January 22, 2007.

Hired at the age of 34, Tomlin became only the third head coach hired by the Steelers since 1969. In his 13 seasons as head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, Tomlin has accomplished many things that have never been done in the team's storied history. A franchise known for stability at the head coaching position, Tomlin ranks among the League's longest-tenured head coaches following the 2019 season.

Tomlin became the youngest head coach in NFL history to both coach in and win a Super Bowl when he led the Steelers to a 27-23 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in Super Bowl XLIII (36 years, 323 days). By winning the Super Bowl in only his second season as a head coach, he also became the fastest to win a Super Bowl title in Steelers history.

In his 13 years as head coach of the Steelers, Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to six AFC North titles, most recently in 2017, and has guided the Steelers to the playoffs eight times, including two trips to the Super Bowl (XLIII and XLV). Tomlin has won at least five home games in each of his first 13 years, including five at Heinz Field in 2019.

Tomlin has sent a total of 61 selections to the NFL's annual Pro Bowl, including the five players who received Pro Bowl honors for the 2019 season. Additionally, Tomlin was appointed by Commissioner Roger Goodell to the NFL's Competition Committee in March 2013.

Tomlin is one of only eight coaches in League history to win a Super Bowl within his first two seasons as an NFL head coach. He is the only head coach in Steelers history to lead the team to two Super Bowls in his first four seasons at the helm, including an appearance against the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XLV. He is one of only two Steelers head coaches to win three division titles in his first four seasons.

Tomlin has led Pittsburgh to a 133-74-1 record in the regular season since becoming the team's head coach in 2007 - the second-best record in the NFL during that time span. His 133-74-1 regular-season record (.642) is the best start in franchise history.

Pittsburgh was beset with injuries in 2019. The Steelers lost quarterback Ben Roethlisberger with a season-ending elbow injury in Week 2. Running back James Conner missed six games, wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster missed four games, and was sidelined for the majority of two others, and defensive end Stephon Tuitt missed the final 10 games of the season. Even backups - quarterback Mason Rudolph and running back Jaylen Samuels missed multiple games. Starting center Maurkice Pouncey missed three games. Starting left guard Ramon Foster and starting tight end Vance McDonald were both sidelined two games for concussions. Undrafted rookie free-agent Devlin Hodges was forced to play in eight games (six starts), and, despite an 0-3 start, Tomlin still led Pittsburgh to a record of 8-8.

Tomlin helped a Steelers defense that ranked as one of the NFL's best in 2019. Pittsburgh led or tied for the League-lead in sacks (54.0), quarterback hits (117), takeaways (36), fumble recoveries (17) and rush TDs allowed (7).

The Steelers also ranked among the NFL's top-five in interceptions (2nd, 20), interception rate (2nd, 3.89%), passing defense (3rd, 194.6), yards per play allowed (3rd, 4.74), passes defended (3rd, 83), yards per rush allowed (3rd, 3.79), forced fumbles (t-3rd, 19), tackles for loss (t-3rd, 90), opposing passer rating (4th, 80.7), pass yards per attempt allowed (4th, 6.06), total defense (5th, 304.1), scoring defense (t-5th, 18.9) and offensive TDs allowed (5th, 30). The Steelers also limited 11 opponents below 200 yards passing, which led the League.

Tomlin secured his 13th straight non-losing season with the Steelers' eighth win in 2019, a 23-17 victory at Arizona in Week 14, a streak dating back to his first season as the team's head coach in 2007. Tomlin is one of three head coaches in NFL history to begin a head coaching tenure with at least 13 consecutive non-losing seasons - joining Marty Schottenheimer (14, 1984-97) and Don Shula (13, 1963-75).

Steelers defense ranked as one of the NFL's best in 2019.

Tomlin reached 125 career wins in the fewest games (192) in team history, tying him with Bud Grant for the fifth-fewest games by an NFL head coach to secure 125 regular season wins. He is the third head coach in NFL history with 133 or more regular-season wins in their first 13 seasons as a head coach, joining Tony Dungy: 139 and Shula: 138.

Over the past five seasons (2013-19), Tomlin has led the team to a 24-9 record in the month of December/January.

Tomlin led the Steelers to a record of 9-6-1 in 2018, becoming one of five head coaches in NFL history to begin a head coaching tenure with 12 consecutive non-losing seasons. With a Week 5 win against Atlanta, he and quarterback Ben Roethlisberger broke a tie with Chuck Noll and Terry Bradshaw for the most wins by a head coach-quarterback tandem in franchise history. The duo's 125 regular-season wins are the fourth-most by a head coach-quarterback pairing in NFL history.

Roethlisberger set single-season franchise records for touchdown passes (34), pass completions (452) and passing yards (5,129) in 2018, while leading all NFL players in pass completions and passing yardage. Wide receiver Antonio Brown led the NFL with a single-season franchise record 15 TD catches. Brown and second-year wide receiver JuJu Smith-Schuster also made history, becoming the sixth wide receiver duo in NFL history and first in Steelers history to record 100 receptions and 1,000 yards apiece in a single season. Smith-Schuster was voted team MVP for his breakout year.

With Tomlin at the helm, six Steelers were named to the Pro Bowl for their 2018 performances — the third consecutive season with at least five selections. Brown, running back James Conner, defensive tackle Cameron Heyward and offensive linemen David DeCastro, Maurkice Pouncey and Alejandro Villanueva all received Pro Bowl accolades.

In 2017, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 13-3 record, including a 6-0 record against the AFC North, securing his sixth division title and a No. 2 seed in the AFC for the postseason. The team's 13 wins marked the most wins in a single season in the Tomlin era.

Under Tomlin's guidance, Roethlisberger became the eighth quarterback in NFL history to reach 50,000 passing yards, finishing the 2017 season with a career total of 51,065. Brown was voted team MVP for his outstanding performance and became the first Steeler to earn the honor four times (2011, '13, '15 and '17). Brown led the league with 1,533 receiving yards and set an NFL record for the most receptions (582) and receiving yards (7,848) by a player in any five-year span in League history.

For the second straight season, running back Le'Veon Bell led the AFC in scrimmage yards per game (129.7) and surpassed his own Steelers single-season record for receptions by a running back with 85. Defensively, the team led the NFL and set a Steelers single-season record with 56 sacks in 2017.

MAKING HISTORY

Tomlin is 1 of 3 head coaches in NFL history to begin their tenure with 13 consecutive non-losing seasons.

For their efforts, Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell were named to the Pro Bowl along with kicker Chris Boswell, linebacker Ryan Shazier, and offensive linemen DeCastro, Pouncey and Villanueva. Brown, Bell and DeCastro were also named AP All-Pro, along with Heyward. Heyward and fullback Roosevelt Nix were also added to the Pro Bowl roster prior to the game.

The Steelers finished with an 11-5 record in 2016, and won each of the team's final seven regular-season games, to secure the AFC North title and No. 3 seed in the AFC for the postseason. It marked the fifth time Tomlin led the Steelers to at least 11 wins in the regular season. Pittsburgh won its first two postseason games, vs. Miami in an AFC Wild Card Game and at Kansas City in an AFC Divisional Playoff, before falling to the New England Patriots in the AFC Championship Game.

Bell was voted the Steelers' MVP for his 2016 efforts. He led the NFL in scrimmage yards per game (157.0), and he became the fastest player in NFL history to reach 3,000 rushing yards and 1,500 receiving yards in his career (38 games). In the Steelers' Week 14 victory at Buffalo in 2016, Bell set the single-game team record with 236 rushing yards and tied the single-game team mark with three rushing TDs.

Roethlisberger and Brown continued to etch their names in NFL history. Roethlisberger finished the season with the ninth-most passing TDs in NFL history (301) and the 10th-most passing yards in NFL history (46,814). Brown set numerous NFL records, including one for the most receptions in a player's first 100 career regular-season games (622) and one for the most receptions in NFL history by a player in any four-year span (481).

Tomlin also reached his 100th career win in 2016 and did so in the fewest games (157) in team history. He became the eighth head coach in NFL history to reach 100 regular-season wins in their first 10 seasons.

Despite significant injuries to multiple starters during the 2015 season, the Steelers finished with a 10-6 record (2nd in the AFC North) and advanced to the Divisional Round of the playoffs. The Steelers finished third in the NFL in total offense (1st in the AFC), while the defense posted 48 sacks under first-year defensive coordinator Keith Butler. The 48 sacks were the third most in the NFL in 2015.

In 2014, Tomlin orchestrated one of the top offensive outputs in team history. The Steelers broke numerous offensive records, including points scored (436), total yards (6,577), passing yards per game (301.6) and total first downs (379). On an individual basis in 2014, Tomlin guided Roethlisberger, Brown and Bell — who all made the Pro Bowl — to record-setting years.

Arguably one of his best coaching performances may have come in the second half of the 2013 season. Despite an 0-4 and 2-6 start to the season, the Steelers finished the regular season surging to a 6-2 second-half record, falling just short of the playoffs.

NFL LEADING DEFENSE

2007 | 2008 | 2011 | 2012

In 2012, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 27-10 victory over the New York Jets in the home opener, becoming the first coach in team history to win his first six home openers. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked overall defense (275.8 yards/game) and finished first in passing defense (185.2 yards/game).

In 2011, Tomlin led the Steelers to a 12-4 record, marking the second straight season the team posted 12 wins, which was only the second time in team history it had been achieved. The Steelers finished the season with the top-ranked total defense (271.8 ypg) and scoring defense (14.2 ppg). Pittsburgh posted a 7-1 record at home in 2011, for the second time in Tomlin's career (2007). He also had five players (Roethlisberger, Mike Wallace, Pouncey, Troy Polamalu and Brown) selected to the Pro Bowl following the season.

Tomlin's seven road wins during the 2010 regular season tied a Steelers record previously set in 1978 and 2004. The Steelers finished second in total defense under Tomlin's guidance in 2010, allowing only 276.8 yards per game. Pittsburgh led the NFL and set a team record in rushing defense, yielding only 62.8 yards per game (1,004 yards), the third-best total in NFL history dating back to 1970. The Steelers also established an NFL record in 2010 by not allowing an opponent to rush for more than 75 yards in any of their first eight games during the regular season.

In all, the Steelers' defense led the NFL in 2010 in rushing yards allowed (62.8 yds./game), points allowed (232), touchdowns allowed (22), quarterback sacks (48), rushing average (3.0), yards per play (4.5) and yards allowed on first down (4.08). It finished second in the league in passing average (6.31), turnover advantage (+14) and red-zone efficiency (40.0, tied).

Under Tomlin, the Steelers broke new ground on offense in 2009. Pittsburgh's offense ranked seventh in the NFL (ninth passing, 19th rushing) but became the first unit in team history to boast a 4,000-yard passer (Roethlisberger), two 1,000-yard receivers (Hines Ward, Antonio Holmes) and a 1,000-yard rusher (Rashard Mendenhall) in the same season. Pittsburgh's defense ranked fifth in the NFL (third vs. run, 16th vs. pass) while leading the AFC and finishing one shy of the NFL lead with 47 quarterback sacks.

The Steelers continued to be dominant at Heinz Field under Tomlin in 2009. Pittsburgh finished with a 6-2 home record after finishing 7-1 (2007) and 6-2 (2008) at home during Tomlin's first two seasons.

Tomlin finished the 2008 season with a 12-4 record and his second consecutive AFC North Division title, becoming the only Steelers head coach to win division crowns in each of his first two seasons. He also set a record with 22 regular-season wins in his first two years at the helm and is the only Steelers head coach to win at least 10 games in each of his first two seasons. Tomlin's .688 winning percentage (22-10) after two years is the best in Steelers history.

BACK TO BACK TITLES

Tomlin finished the 2008 season with a 12-4 record and his second consecutive AFC North Division title.

The Steelers' defense was dominant under Tomlin's guidance in 2008, leading the NFL in total defense (237.2), pass defense (156.9), points per game (13.9), total yards per play (3.9), rushing yards per attempt (3.3), passing yards per attempt (4.7) and third-down efficiency (31.4), while finishing second in rush defense (80.3).

Tomlin led the Steelers to a 10-6 record in 2007 and became just the second coach in team history to post a winning record, win a division title and earn a playoff berth in his inaugural season. Tomlin began his head coaching career by becoming only the second Steelers head coach to win his first three games. During 2007, the Steelers became just the fifth team in NFL history to win their first four home games by at least 20 points.

Tomlin guided the Steelers to the NFL's top-ranked defense in 2007, yielding only 266.4 yards per game. The Steelers' defense ranked third in the NFL against both the run (89.9 avg.) and the pass (176.5 avg.), and finished third in the league in total yards allowed per play (4.6). Pittsburgh's defense led the NFL in passing yards per play (5.7) and first downs allowed per game (15.6), and finished second in the league in points allowed per game (16.8).

The Steelers' offense finished third in the NFL in rushing (135.5 avg.) during Tomlin's first season, sparked by Willie Parker, who led the league in rushing before injuring his leg in Week 16. Roethlisberger enjoyed a record-setting season during Tomlin's first year, establishing new team records for TD passes (32) and passer rating (104.1) while earning his first career Pro Bowl appearance.

Tomlin was the NFL's second-youngest head coach in 2007, and he became only the second Steelers coach in team history to win at least 10 games during his first year at the helm. The Steelers posted a 7-1 record at home in 2007 and were 5-1 in the AFC North (3-0 at home).

Tomlin spent the 2006 season as the Minnesota Vikings' defensive coordinator. That season, the Vikings ranked eighth in the NFL in total defense and first against the run while not allowing a 100-yard rusher the entire season.

Tomlin was the defensive backs coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers from 2001-05. In 2002, Tomlin guided one of the most productive defensive backfields in the NFL, culminating with its performance in Super Bowl XXXVII. The secondary recorded four of the team's five interceptions, returning two for touchdowns, to help Tampa Bay capture the franchise's first Super Bowl title.

Before joining Tampa Bay's staff, Tomlin served two seasons as the defensive backs coach at the University of Cincinnati (1999-00). He took over a secondary that ranked 111th in the nation in pass defense in 1998 and helped them improve to 61st overall in his first season. Under Tomlin's direction in 2000, the Bearcats ranked eighth in the nation in interceptions as well as fourth nationally in total turnovers.

Prior to joining the Cincinnati staff, Tomlin had a short stint on the coaching staff at Tennessee-Martin and then spent two seasons at Arkansas State, coaching wide receivers in 1997 before switching to defensive backs in 1998.

Tomlin spent the 1996 season as a graduate assistant at the University of Memphis, where he worked with the Tiger defensive backs and special teams units. He began his coaching career in 1995 as wide receivers coach at Virginia Military Institute.

Tomlin was a three-year starter at wide receiver at William & Mary (1990-94) and finished his career with 101 receptions for 2,054 yards and 20 TD catches. A first-team All-Yankee Conference selection in 1994, he established a school record with a 20.2 yards-per-catch average.

Tomlin is very active in the community and was recognized, along with his wife Kiya, in February 2013, by the Chuck Cooper Foundation with the Career Achievement in Leadership Diversity and Community Service Award. Tomlin also participates in the annual ManUp Pittsburgh conference which encourages local men to be better fathers and role models.

Since his arrival in 1994, the Steelers' defensive front has helped the team lead the NFL in rush defense five times and finish in the top-10 in the League 18 times.

Mitchell joined the NFL ranks in 1991 as defensive line coach with the Browns, where he tutored two Pro Bowl defensive tackles, Michael Dean Perry and Rob Burnett.

KEITH BUTLER

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Keith Butler is in his sixth season as the team's defensive coordinator. Butler served as the Steelers' linebackers coach for 12 seasons (2003-2014) after spending four seasons as the Cleveland Browns' linebackers coach.

In 2019, Butler's Steelers defense ranked as one of the NFL's best. Pittsburgh led or tied for the League-lead in sacks, quarterback hits, takeaways, fumble recoveries, rush TDs allowed and pass yards allowed. The Steelers also ranked among the NFL's top-five in interceptions, interception rate pass defense, yards per play allowed, passes defended, yards per rush allowed, forced fumbles, tackles for loss, opposing passer rating, pass yards per attempt allowed, total defense, scoring defense and offensive TDs allowed.

Pittsburgh was the only NFL team with three different players recording at least 9.0 sacks in 2019 (T.J. Watt-14.5, Bud Dupree-11.5, Cam Heyward-9.0). The Steelers have registered at least one sack in 57 consecutive games, the longest regular-season streak in team history, the longest active streak in the NFL and sixth-longest in League history.

In 2018, for the second consecutive year, Pittsburgh led the NFL for the most sacks with 52, tying Kansas City. Five Steelers tallied at least 5.0 sacks, led by second-year linebacker T.J. Watt's 13.0. Defensive tackle Cameron Heyward earned his first Pro Bowl selection, recording 8.0 sacks.

Butler spent nine years coaching collegiately, beginning at his alma mater, Memphis, coaching linebackers (1990-97), and defensive ends and special teams (1995-97). He was defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Arkansas State in 1998.

He was drafted by Seattle in the second round in 1978 and played linebacker for the Seahawks for 10 seasons (1978-87).

Butler was born in Anniston, Ala. He and his wife Janet have three sons — Blake, Brandon and Brett.

RANDY FICHTNER

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

+ Randy Fichtner is in his third season as the Steelers' offensive coordinator, after eight seasons as quarterbacks coach and three prior coaching wide receivers.

Fichtner's offense was beset with injuries in 2019, including QB Ben Roethlisberger. Mason Rudolph, who replaced him, was the third quarterback since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to record a passer rating of at least 81.4 and throw a TD in each of his first 6 career starts. He also was the fifth QB since then to throw a TD in each of his first eight career games. After Rudolph was injured, Fichtner helped Devlin Hodges become the first undrafted rookie QB in a non-strike year to win three starts in the same season since 1966.

In his first year as coordinator (2018), Pittsburgh led the NFL in red zone touchdown efficiency and net passing yards per game. Five of the team's six Pro Bowl selections were offensive players. Roethlisberger set single-season franchise records for touchdown passes, completions and passing yards, leading the NFL in completions and yards. Team MVP WR JuJu Smith-Schuster set single-season career highs for receptions and receiving yards, leading Pittsburgh in both. Running back James Conner became the first player in franchise history with at least 1,000 yards from scrimmage and 10 touchdowns in the first eight games of a season, finishing with 1,470 total yards (973 rushing) and 13 touchdowns.

Fichtner became offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Memphis in 2001, having previously coached receivers and quarterbacks (1990-94). He spent four years at Arkansas State, and three at his alma mater, Purdue University.

A standout football player at Meadville (Pa.) Area Senior High School, Fichtner played defensive back at Purdue, graduating in 1985 with a bachelor's degree in health promotion.

He and his wife Jennifer have three children — son Nathaniel Ross, and daughters Shelby Brooke and Kirby Lynn.

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

+ Danny Smith is in his eighth season as the Steelers' special teams coordinator.

Kicker Chris Boswell made 29 of 31 field goal attempts in 2019, including 29 of 30 from inside 54 yards and 10 of 12 from 40+ yards. He tied for third in the NFL in field goals made and tied for fourth in field goals attempted and points (115). Among NFL kickers with at least 30 attempts, Boswell ranked second in field goal percentage. He was the only kicker in 2019 to not miss an extra-point attempt (28 of 28) and connected on at least 90% of his field goal attempts, the first NFL kicker to do so since 2017 and fifth since 2015, when the extra-point attempt moved to the 15-yard line.

Wide receiver/punt returner Diontae Johnson led the NFL in punt-return average (12.4) in 2019, the fifth player in franchise history to lead the League and first since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. He returned a punt 85 yards for a TD at Arizona (12/8), the longest punt return for a TD in franchise history and first for the Steelers since 2015. Johnson was the first Pittsburgh rookie with a punt return for a TD since 2006.

Boswell landed 13 successful field goals in 2018, following a 2017 season where he earned his first Pro Bowl selection and established single-season franchise records for most field goals made and total points, in addition to setting a team record for most field goals made from 50 yards or further in a season. He also converted four game-winning field goal attempts in 2017.

Born and raised in Pittsburgh, Smith attended Central Catholic High School. He coached at Central Catholic (1977-78), helping tutor future Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Marino.

Smith and his wife Elaine have three children — Erin, Courtney and Jason.

ASSISTANT/SECONDARY COACH

+ Teryl Austin is in his second season as the Steelers' senior defensive assistant/secondary and 17th year in the National Football League coaching ranks. He was hired on January 11, 2019. Austin coached a group of defensive backs that helped the Steelers' defense rank as one of the NFL's best in 2019. Pittsburgh limited 11 opponents below 200 yards passing, which led the League. The Steelers ranked top-five in the NFL in interceptions (2nd, 20), interception rate (2nd, 3.89%), pass defense (3rd, 194.6), yards per play allowed (3rd, 4.72), passes defended (3rd, 99), opposing passer rating (4th, 79.7), pass yards per attempt allowed (4th, 6.06), total defense (5th, 304.1) and scoring defense (5th, 18.9).

Bradley coached a group of defensive backs that helped the Steelers' defense rank as one of the NFL's best in 2019. Pittsburgh limited 11 opponents below 200 yards passing, which led the League. The Steelers ranked

MATT CANADA

QUARTERBACKS COACH

+ Matt Canada is in his first season as the Steelers' quarterbacks coach. He was hired on January 15, 2020.

Canada, who was a finalist for the Broyles Award — honor given to college football's top assistant coach — in 2016, brings nearly two decades of experience as both a highly successful quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator.

His units set offensive school records at Indiana, Northern Illinois, Wisconsin and Pittsburgh, and most recently as the interim head coach at the University of Maryland in 2018.

Canada served as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at LSU in 2017. Tigers quarterback Danny Etling threw 16 TDs and only 2 interceptions, while LSU finished the season No. 1 nationally in fewest turnovers. The Tigers won six of seven SEC games down the stretch, earning a trip to the Citrus Bowl.

In Canada's one season with the Panthers (2016), Pitt averaged a school-record 42 points per game, which ranked No. 10 in the nation. The Panthers led the nation in red-zone TD percentage (82%) and scored at least 28 points in all 12 regular-season games, including a 43-42 victory at eventual national champion Clemson. Pitt allowed just 9 sacks in the regular season, which was the fewest of any Power 5 program. Running back James Conner rushed for over 1,000 yards, scored 16 TDs, and earned first-team All-ACC honors. The Panthers finished the regular season 8-4 and earned a trip to the Pinstripe Bowl.

Canada earned his B.A. in Business (1993) and M.A. in Sports Administration (1995) at Indiana University.

JAMES DANIEL

TIGHT ENDS COACH

+ James Daniel is in his 17th season coaching tight ends for the Steelers. Daniel, who was hired on January 24, 2004, remained with the team following Mike Tomlin's hiring in January of 2007.

Vance McDonald (50), Jesse James (30) and Xavier Grimble (6) combined for 86 receptions during the 2018 season under Daniel's tutelage. McDonald became the first Steelers tight end to haul in 50 catches in a season since 2015 (Heath Miller) and eclipse 600 receiving yards since 2014 (Miller). In the team's Week 2 Monday Night win at Tampa Bay, McDonald established a single-game career high of 112 receiving yards on 4 catches — marking the first 100-receiving yard game of his NFL career and becoming the second Steelers tight end since 1960 to have at least 100 receiving yards in the first half of a game (Eric Green, 1991).

Under Daniel's guidance, Heath Miller became one of the top pass catchers in franchise history. Miller, who retired on February 19, 2016, left the Steelers as the team's all-time leader in receptions (592), receiving yards (6,569) and receiving TDs (45) by a tight end.

Overall, Miller ranks third in career receptions, fourth in receiving yards, fifth in receiving TDs and sixth in scrimmage yards (6,577) in Steelers annals. Miller is one of 15 tight ends in NFL history to reach 6,000 career receiving yards during the regular season.

A native of Wetumpka, Ala., Daniel was a three-year starter (offensive guard) and four-year letter winner at Alabama State University from 1970-73. Daniel is married to Myrtis.

Karl Dunbar is in his third season as the Steelers' defensive line coach and his 14th year as a defensive line coach in the National Football League. He was hired by the Steelers on February 8, 2018.

In 2019, Dunbar mentored defensive tackle Cameron Heyward, who was named All-Pro for the second time in his career (2017). Heyward finished the season with 9.0 sacks, 22 quarterback hits, 11 tackles for a loss and 6 passes defended. Heyward not only led all NFL defensive tackles in stops with 83, but he also led the League in tackles by a defensive lineman. In fact, his 83 tackles were the most by a Steelers defensive lineman since Donald Evans had 84 in 1993.

Among NFL defensive tackles in '19, Heyward ranked second in quarterback hits, second in sacks and fourth in tackles for loss.

Another Dunbar protege, nose tackle Javon Hargrave, recorded 60 tackles, 7 tackles for loss, 6 quarterback hits, 4.0 sacks and 1 forced fumble in 2019. Hargrave's 60 tackles were the most among all nose tackles in the NFL and ninth-most among defensive tackles. Among all NFL nose tackles in '19, Hargrave ranked tied for second in sacks, quarterback hits and tackles for loss.

Dunbar and his wife, Pamela, have three children: Karmichael Mackenzie II, Mickel Angelle and Nickolette Alyse. A native of Opelousas, La., Dunbar graduated from Louisiana State University with a bachelor's degree in criminal justice.

Ike Hilliard is in his first season as the Steelers' wide receivers coach in 2020 and 10th year as a wide receivers coach in the National Football League. Hilliard was hired by Pittsburgh on February 18, 2020.

Hilliard served as the wide receivers coach in Washington for seven seasons over two different stints (2012), including the last six years. He has also served as the wide receivers coach in Buffalo (2013) and assistant wide receivers coach in Miami (2011).

Under Hilliard's tutelage in 2019, wideout Terry McLaurin had one of the top rookie receiving seasons in Washington Football Team history. He led Washington in all three major receiving categories. McLaurin registered 58 catches for 919 yards and 7 TD receptions in 14 games. His 919 receiving yards and 7 TDs ranked second in franchise rookie history. Among all NFL rookies, McLaurin ranked second in receiving yards, tied for second in receptions and tied for third in TD receptions. He also ranked second in yards per catch (15.8) among rookies with at least 20 receptions.

As a player, Hilliard was a first-round selection in the 1997 NFL Draft (No. 7 overall). He played 12 seasons, eight with the New York Giants (1997-2004) and four with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (2005-08). In 161 career games (106 starts), Hilliard caught 546 passes for 6,397 yards and 35 TDs.

Hilliard played collegiately at the University of Florida from 1994-96, catching 126 passes for 2,214 yards and 26 TDs. He earned first-team All-SEC and All-American honors as a junior. In the final game that season, he recorded 7 catches for 150 yards and 3 TDs to help lead the Gators to a 52-20 Sugar Bowl win to secure the school's first national championship.

Hilliard is a native of Patterson, La.

Eddie Faulkner is in his second season as the running backs coach for the Steelers, after being hired on January 17, 2019.

Prior to joining the Steelers, Faulkner spent six years, 2013-18, at North Carolina State University as the school's tight ends/fullbacks/special teams coordinator. In 2017, Faulkner was selected to participate in the NCAA Champion Forum as one of eight minority coaches in the nation chosen to participate in the professional development opportunity.

While at N.C. State, Faulkner coached the program's all-time receptions leader and current Steelers running back Jaylen Samuels, who finished his career with 202 catches while earning first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 2015 and in 2017. In 2017, Samuels finished third in the conference with 16 TDs — the third-most in a season by a N.C. State footballer. Wolf-pack running back Reggie Gallaspy II tied for fifth in the nation with 19 total TDs in 2018, scoring 18 on the ground.

A native of Muncie, Ind., Faulkner attended Muncie Central High School. He earned a B.A. in history from Wisconsin in 2000, and a M.A. in adult, higher and community education from Ball State in 2004. He and his wife, Anissa, have three children: Eddie IV, Madison Rose and Xavier.

+ Adrian Klemm is in his second season as the assistant offensive line coach for the Steelers, after being hired on February 15, 2019.

Two Steelers offensive linemen — David DeCastro and Maurkice Pouncey — were selected to the 2020 Pro Bowl, an honor each received for the third consecutive year. Klemm, a three-time Super Bowl champion during his NFL playing career, joined the Steelers after nine seasons in the collegiate ranks.

Most recently, Klemm was the Associate Head Coach/Run Game Coordinator/Offensive Line at UCLA from 2012-16.

Klemm was a four-year starter at the University of Hawaii (1996-99) and a part of the biggest turnaround in NCAA history. Hawaii improved from 0-12 to 9-4 to win a bowl game during the 1999 season. Following his senior year, Klemm was selected as the starting left tackle in the Senior Bowl and received invitations to the East-West Shrine Game and the Hula Bowl. He earned a bachelor's degree in liberal arts from Excelsior College in 2008.

Klemm was selected by the New England Patriots in the second-round of the 2000 NFL Draft, where he spent the first five of his seven NFL seasons.

He was a member of three Patriots Super Bowl Championship teams (XXXVI, XXXVII and XXXIX) before joining the Green Bay Packers in 2005.

A native of Los Angeles, Calif., Klemm has two sons, Jalen and Nikko.

+ Shaun Sarrett was promoted to offensive line coach on January 14, 2019, after serving the 2018 season as the Steelers' assistant offensive line coach. Sarrett joined the Steelers in 2012 and spent six years as an offensive assistant, primarily helping coach the offensive line, and assisting the offensive coaching staff with game preparation, video analysis and the scouting of opponents.

Two Steelers offensive linemen — David DeCastro and Maurkice Pouncey — were selected to the 2020 Pro Bowl, an honor each received for the third consecutive year.

In 2018, the Steelers' offensive line allowed just 24.0 sacks — the fourth-fewest allowed by an NFL team on the season — and the third consecutive year the Pittsburgh offensive line finished top five in the category. The Steelers yielded 21.0 sacks in 2016 (2nd) and 24.0 in 2017 (3rd). Only one other team has allowed fewer than the Steelers' 69.0 sacks over the three-year span.

Since 2014, Pittsburgh yielded 167.0 sacks, which is the third-fewest sacks allowed among all NFL teams.

Sarrett spent four seasons as the offensive quality control and offensive line assistant coach for Duke University. During the 2011 season, Sarrett assumed Ron Middleton's tight end coaching responsibilities when an injury sidelined him. He joined the Duke staff after spending two years as a graduate assistant at Marshall University, where he earned a master's degree in special education. Prior to his stint at Marshall, he served as an offensive and defensive line coach at Streetsboro High School (Streetsboro, Ohio).

A native of Beckley, W.Va., Sarrett played guard for Kent State University and was a three-year letterman. He received the Dick Scesniak Award for overcoming adversity during the 2003 season, and he earned his degree in health education in 2004. Sarrett is married to the former Amy Luempert of Lorain, Ohio.

+ Jerry Olsavsky is in his sixth season as the team's inside linebackers coach. Olsavsky was promoted to his current position on February 6, 2015.

Olsavsky oversaw the development of rookie Devin Bush in 2019. Bush set a franchise rookie record with 109 tackles, which is the most by a Steeler in a season since Lawrence Timmons had 114 in 2016. Bush was the only NFL rookie with a fumble recovery (4), interception (2), forced fumble (1) and 100 or more tackles (109).

Bush was the first NFL rookie with at least 100 tackles, 4 fumble recoveries, 2 interceptions, 1 forced fumble and 1.0 sack in the same season since Bennie Blades of the Detroit Lions in 1988. He also was the first NFL rookie since the 1970 NFL-AFL merger with at least 85 tackles, 4 fumble recoveries, 2 interceptions and 1 TD fumble return in a season. Bush was chosen by the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Pro Football Writers Association as the winner of the Joe Greene Great Performance Award, given annually to the top Steelers rookie.

Olsavsky was selected by the Steelers in the 10th round (258th overall) of the 1989 NFL Draft, and played linebacker from 1989-97. He saw action in 108 games for the Steelers, making 227 tackles, while also excelling on special teams. Olsavsky battled back from a career threatening knee injury in 1993 and helped lead the Steelers to a berth in Super Bowl XXX. In 1995, he was the recipient of the Steelers' Ed Block Courage Award, given annually to the Steeler that overcomes many obstacles to achieve great success on the field. Olsavsky finished his playing career in 1998 with the Baltimore Ravens.

Playing collegiately at the University of Pittsburgh, Olsavsky was a first-team Kodak All-American as a senior in 1988, when he made 129 tackles. He became the Panthers' first defensive player since 1976 to record more than 100 tackles in three consecutive seasons. He earned his degree in information science in 1990.

Olsavsky was born in Youngstown, Ohio, and he resides in Pittsburgh with his three children, Joseph, Emma and Dominic.

JAMES FARRIOR

Linebacker (2002-11)

Class of 2020

James Farrior joined the Steelers as a free agent in 2002 and went on to record 30 sacks and 1,078 tackles during his 10 seasons with the team. A member of the Super Bowl XL and XLIII championship teams, James was named Steelers Most Valuable Player and First-Team All-Pro in 2004 and was chosen to play in the Pro Bowl in 2004 and 2009. In 16 playoff games, Farrior had 97 tackles, four sacks, two interceptions and eight passes defended.

GREG LLOYD

Linebacker (1988-97)

Class of 2020

Lloyd was drafted by the Steelers in the sixth round in 1987 out of Fort Valley State, one of the Historically Black Colleges and Universities. During his Steelers career, he was twice named the team's Most Valuable Player (1991 & 1994), was voted to five straight Pro Bowls (1991-95), was First-Team All-Pro three straight years (1993-95) and was the UPI AFC Defensive Player of the Year (1994). Lloyd still ranks ninth on the Steelers' all-time sacks list with 53.5 and was a member of the team's 75th Season All-Time Team.

DWIGHT WHITE

Defensive End (1971-80)

Class of 2020

White was also one of only 22 players to win Super Bowls IX, X, XIII and XIV with the Steelers. After spending the week leading up to Super Bowl IX in the hospital with pneumonia, he didn't miss the game, even scoring the Steelers' first points with a safety. Dwight was voted to two Pro Bowls (1972-73) and was a member of the Steelers' 50th and 75th Season All-Time Teams (1982 & 2007). His 46 sacks still rank 10th in team history.

MIKE WAGNER

Safety (1971-80)

Class of 2020

Wagner is one of only 22 players to win four Super Bowls (IX, X, XIII and XIV) during the Steelers' dynasty of the 1970s. He recorded key fourth-quarter interceptions in Super Bowls IX and X to help secure the Steelers' victories. Mike was the NFL co-leader with eight interceptions in 1973 and finished his 10-year career with 36. He was named First-team All-Pro in 1973 and voted to two Pro Bowls (1975-76). Wagner was also a member of the Steelers' 50th Season All-Time Team in 1982.

TROY POLAMALU

Strong Safety (2003-14)

Class of 2020

The Steelers' first-round draft pick in 2003 (16th overall), Polamalu was elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame this year in his first year of eligibility. During his 12-year career with the Steelers, he became a two-time Super Bowl champion (XL and XLIII), was voted to eight Pro Bowls, was named First-team All-Pro four times and was NFL Defensive Player of the Year in 2010. In addition, Troy was a member of the Steelers' 75th Season All-Time Team and the NFL's 2000s All-Decade Team.

The Steelers selected five players to serve as team captains for the 2020 season, the team announced through a vote of their teammates.

Quarterback Ben Roethlisberger and center Maurkice Pouncey will serve as the offensive captains. Defensive tackle Cameron Heyward and linebacker T.J. Watt will function as the defensive captains, and safety Jordan Dangerfield will act as the special teams captain.

Roethlisberger's selection marks the 12th in his career as a team captain (2008, '09, '11, '12, '13, '14, '15, '16, '17, '18, '19 and '20). Heyward has been named a captain for six consecutive years (2015-20), and this is the fourth time that Pouncey has been named a captain (2013, '18, '19 and '20). This signifies the first time that Watt and Dangerfield have been selected as a team captain in their respective careers.

HEAD COACH

JOHN HARBAUGH

PRO CAREER: Super Bowl-winning head coach John Harbaugh is in his 13th season at the helm in Baltimore. He has led the Ravens to a playoff berth in eight (2008-12, 2014, 2018-19) of his 12 full seasons, and in 2012, captured the franchise's second Super Bowl championship. Under Harbaugh's guidance, Baltimore is one of only four teams with at least eight playoff berths in the past 12 seasons: N.E. (11), G.B. (9), Bal. (8) and Sea. (8). In 2019, Harbaugh became the first Ravens coach ever to win The Associated Press NFL Coach of the Year award. He led the Ravens to the AFC's No. 1 playoff seed and a franchise-best 14-2 record. Baltimore also won a franchise-record 12-straight games to close out the regular season. In 2018, Baltimore (10-6) captured its fifth-ever AFC North Division title, earning a Wild Card playoff berth vs. the Los Angeles Chargers. Career record: 124-78.

BACKGROUND: Played defensive back at Miami (OH) from 1980-83, earned a degree in political science. Coached collegiality at Western Michigan (1984-86), Pittsburgh (1987), Morehead State (1988), Cincinnati (1989-96), and Indiana (1997).

PERSONAL: Born in Perrysburg, Ohio on September 23, 1962, Harbaugh and his wife, Ingrid, have a daughter, Alison. Son of longtime college coach Jack, and his brother, Jim, the current University of Michigan head coach, played for the Ravens in 1998.

IN THE COMMUNITY

The Pittsburgh Steelers are proud to be a part of the Western Pennsylvania community.

The organization's strong commitment to this area dates back to 1933 when Arthur J. Rooney, Sr. founded the team. That commitment was passed down to his son, late Steelers' Chairman, Ambassador Dan Rooney, and his grandson, President Art Rooney II. Steelers players, coaches and front office staff are involved in appearances, charitable donations and outreach programs with nonprofit and community groups. It's the team's way of giving back to the community that has given us so much!

HBCU Appreciation Day

For the past few years, the NFL, United Way and EVERFI have worked with the league's 32 teams to offer Character Playbook LIVE, a program to help students engage in productive conversations on character and cultivating and maintaining healthy relationships.

The Steelers have always been a part of them, and last week, the team was joined by over 100 schools for the first-ever Character Playbook LIVE HBCU Appreciation event. The virtual event, presented by the Steelers and the United Way of Southwestern Pennsylvania, was an opportunity for local students to learn about Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) from those who attended them, or are currently attending one, as well as others with strong relationships with the schools. The key panelists included Pro Football Hall of Famer and Steelers Legend Donnie Shell, Brandon Hunt, the Steelers Pro Scouting Coordinator, Gia Thorpe, a Pittsburgh native and junior guard on the Howard University Women's Basketball team, LaRae Holliday, the Global Head of Talent for EVERFI and Spelman alumna, and moderator Dr. Damion Thomas, the Curator of Sports at the Smithsonian National Museum of African-American History and Culture.

Continuing the Tradition

The tradition of the Steelers giving back to the community through holiday meals continue.

Due to COVID regulations, Cam Heyward and Maurkice Pouncey were unable to attend their Thanksgiving distributions in person this year. However, that did not stop them from making sure families had Thanksgiving meals. In collaboration with the Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank, Cam Heyward and Maurkice Pouncey ensured 400 of our neighbors have holiday meals through two separate drive-up events serving the Hill District, North Side and surrounding communities.

▲ Cam Heyward has worked with the Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank to provide holiday meals for the last four years.

Since founding The Heyward House in 2015, Cam has been deeply devoted to serving the Pittsburgh community. This is his fourth year working with the Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank to provide holiday dinners to families in need.

Maurkice has been supplying Pittsburgh families with holiday meals for the past eight years. Since beginning his partnership with the Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank in 2012, the Steelers' 2019 Walter Payton Man of the Year has provided the community with 1,600 turkey dinners.

▲ Maurkice Pouncey (pictured above at the 2019 Trukey Distribution) has maintained an eight-year collaboration with the Food Bank and has provided the community with 1,600 meals.

STEELERS HISTORY

Celebrating 20 seasons at Heinz Field

The fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL, the Pittsburgh Steelers were founded on July 8, 1933, by Arthur Joseph Rooney. Originally named the Pittsburgh Pirates, they were a member of the Eastern Division of the 10-team NFL. The other four current NFL teams in existence at that time were the Chicago (Arizona) Cardinals, Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and New York Giants.

One of the great pioneers of the sports world, Art Rooney passed away on August 25, 1988, following a stroke at the age of 87. "The Chief," as he was affectionately known, is enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame and is remembered as one of Pittsburgh's greatest people.

Born on January 27, 1901, in Coulterville, Pa., Art Rooney was the oldest of Daniel and Margaret Rooney's nine children. He grew up in Old Allegheny, now known as Pittsburgh's North Side, and until his death he lived on the North Side, just a short distance from where Three Rivers Stadium stood.

Rooney attended St. Peter's Parochial School and Duquesne University Prep School. He studied collegiately at Indiana (Pa.) Normal, which is now Indiana University of Pennsylvania, as well as at Georgetown and Duquesne.

An exceptional all-around athlete, Rooney held middleweight and welterweight titles from the AAU Boxing Championships and was named to the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team in 1920, although he did not participate in the Olympic Games. He played minor league baseball from 1920-25 before a promising career was cut short by an arm injury. Rooney continued playing football for several semi-pro teams in the Pittsburgh area. He was married on June 11, 1931, to Kathleen McNulty, and the couple had five sons — Daniel, Art Jr., Tim, John and Pat. In 1964, Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame for his contributions to the growth of the NFL and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

By the mid-1960s, Rooney had begun to turn over much of the operation of the Steelers to his oldest son, Dan. After having worked in every area of the organization since 1955, Daniel M. Rooney was named president of the Steelers in 1975. In 2000, Dan Rooney was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He joined his father Art to form only the second father-son tandem to be inducted into the Hall of Fame. The late New York Giants owners Wellington Mara and his father Tim were the first.

Late Steelers Chairman, Ambassador Dan Rooney, spent 54 consecutive years with the organization before being named U.S. Ambassador to Ireland in 2009 by President Barack Obama. Rooney was required to move to Ireland in 2009 to fulfill his duties as ambassador.

As an NFL owner, Dan Rooney was widely recognized as one of the league's most influential executives and one of Pittsburgh's leading contributors to civic affairs. Among his community activities, he was the co-founder of the American Ireland Fund, and he was a board member of the United Way of America, the American Diabetes Association, the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation, the Extra mile Foundation and the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

Dan Rooney was a member of several NFL committees over 30-plus years. He served on the board of directors for the NFL Trust Fund, NFL Films and the Scheduling Committee. He was appointed chairman of the Expansion Committee in 1973, which considered new franchise locations and directed the addition of Seattle and Tampa Bay as expansion teams in 1976.

In 1976, Rooney was also named chairman of the Negotiating Committee, and in 1982 he contributed to the negotiations for the Collective Bargaining Agreement for the NFL and the Players Association. He again played a key role in the labor agreement reached between NFL owners and players in 1993. Rooney was also largely responsible for developing the realignment plan and scheduling format that the NFL adopted prior to the 2002 season. In October 2002, he was named chairman of the NFL's Diversity in the Workplace Committee. Rooney was also Chairman of the Hall of Fame Committee. In February 1999, he was named the recipient of the Philadelphia Maxwell Football Club's Francis J. "Reds" Bagnell Award for outstanding contributions to the game of football.

Daniel M. Rooney was born on Pittsburgh's North Side on July 20, 1932. He was a 1950 graduate of North Catholic High School, where he played quarterback on the varsity football team. He went on to graduate from Duquesne University in 1955 with a bachelor of arts degree in accounting. Rooney passed away on April 13, 2017 at the age of 84, survived by his wife of 66 years, Patricia, and seven of their nine children, 20 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Dan Rooney was named Steelers Chairman Emeritus in July 2009 after he was named United States Ambassador to Ireland. Rooney served as United States Ambassador until late 2012.

In 2003, Dan Rooney officially turned over the title of Steelers team president to his oldest son, Arthur J. Rooney II, who had previously served as the team's vice president and general counsel. A 1978 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh where he majored in political science, Art II received his law degree from Duquesne University School of Law in 1982. He currently serves as Chairman of the NFL's Stadium Workplace Diversity Committee as well as the Chair of the NFL Compensation Committee. He also serves on additional NFL committees including the Legislative Committee, the Management Council Executive Committee, the International Committee, Health & Safety Advisory Committee, and the NFL Foundation.

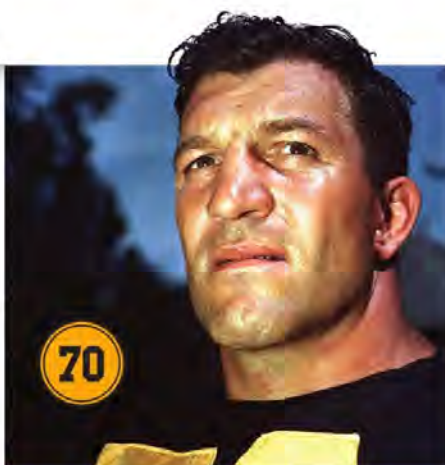

Art Rooney II is also very active in the Pittsburgh community, devoting a substantial amount of his time to various organizations. He currently serves on the boards of the Pittsburgh Public Theater, Saint Vincent College, Senator John Heinz Western Pennsylvania History Center, and the United Way of Southwestern Pennsylvania.

ART ROONEY

1930s After founding the Pirates in 1933, Art Rooney watched his club struggle through its first seven seasons with just 22 wins and five different head coaches. While home games were played at Forbes Field, Rooney often took his team to such cities as Johnstown, Latrobe, Youngstown, New Orleans and Louisville in the 1930s due to competition with baseball and college football.

In 1938, Rooney signed Colorado All-America Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL. White led the League in rushing that year and became one of the NFL's most illustrious alumni. He served 31 years as a Justice of the United States Supreme Court before retiring in 1993.

1940s In 1940, Rooney changed the team name to the Pittsburgh Steelers, representing the heritage of Pittsburgh. The first winning record in the organization's history came in 1942 when head coach Walt Kiesling led the Steelers to a 7-4 finish with the league-leading rushing of rookie Bill Dudley. But the next year, Dudley joined the Armed Forces along with many other NFL players as the nation went to war. With rosters depleted, Rooney merged the Steelers with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1943 (Phil-Pitt "Steagles") and with the Chicago Cardinals (Card-Pitt) in 1944.

Rooney hired legendary Pitt coach Jock Sutherland in 1946, and Dudley returned from the war to earn NFL MVP honors, leading the league in rushing, interceptions and punt returns. Today, Dudley is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Sutherland led the 1947 Steelers to an 8-4 record and a share of the Eastern division title, but they lost their first-ever postseason game 21-0 to Philadelphia. Sutherland died suddenly the following spring while on a scouting trip.

STEELERS HISTORY

The Steelers are the fifth-oldest franchise in the NFL. The team was founded on July 8, 1933.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Steelers signed Byron "Whizzer" White to a $15,800 contract, making White the first "big money" player in the NFL.

1950s Succeeding Sutherland, John Michelosen was head coach for the 1948-51 seasons, compiling a 20-26-2 record.

In 1952, Joe Bach returned for his second stint with the Steelers, having coached the team previously in 1935-36. The Steelers became the last team to abandon the single wing for the T-formation in 1952.

Bach resigned for health reasons following the 1954 season and was replaced by assistant coach Walt Kiesling, who had been the Steelers' head coach twice previously. Kiesling's three stints covered the 1939-40, 1941-44 and the 1954-56 campaigns.

1960s Buddy Parker was named head coach in 1957 and over the next eight years he led the Steelers to five non-losing seasons. Hall of Fame quarterback Bobby Layne led the team through three of those campaigns, leading the Steelers to a 9-5 mark and a playoff game versus Detroit in 1962, which the Steelers lost 17-10. Parker completed his tenure with a 51-48-6 record and ranks fourth among all-time Steelers coaches for career wins.

On October 25, 1964, the Steelers made team history when they retired jersey No. 70 in honor of former defensive tackle Ernie Stautner. Stautner, who was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1969, became the first Steelers player to have his jersey retired.

Brief head coaching stints by Mike Nixon in 1965 and Bill Austin from 1966-68 preceded the hiring of 37-year-old Chuck Noll on January 27, 1969. Noll began to rebuild the Steelers through the draft, starting with the defense when he selected defensive tackle Joe Greene with his first choice in 1969. Today, Greene is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, and joined Stautner as the only two players to have their jerseys retired by the team. Greene's No. 75 was officially retired on November 2, 2014.

1970s A 1-13 record in 1969 gave the Steelers the first overall choice in the 1970 draft, with which Noll addressed the offense by selecting quarterback Terry Bradshaw, another Hall of Famer, after the Steelers won the first selection by winning a coin toss with the Chicago Bears. Cornerback Mel Blount was added in the third round that year, followed by linebacker Jack Ham in 1971 and running back Franco Harris in 1972. In all, Noll drafted 10 players who are now enshrined in the Hall of Fame including three in his first 20 picks and four of his first 38.

Two significant changes took place in 1970. The Steelers moved from the NFL Century Division to the AFC Central with the merger of the American Football League and the NFL. The Steelers also moved into a new home as Three Rivers Stadium opened. Previously, the Steelers had played home games at Forbes Field from 1933-57 and at both Forbes Field and Pitt Stadium from 1958-63. From 1964-69, the Steelers played at Pitt Stadium until Three Rivers opened in 1970.

Gradual improvement in the early 1970s resulted in the team's first division title in 1972 with an 11-3 record. In the first playoff game at Three Rivers, the Steelers defeated the Oakland Raiders 13-7 with Franco Harris' "Immaculate Reception" in the final minute. Despite a 21-17 loss the following week to the undefeated Miami Dolphins, the Steelers had reached a new plateau.

It took 40 years for the Steelers to finally win their first division title, but over the next decade they achieved a level of success unprecedented in professional football.

In 1973, the Steelers won a wild card playoff berth with a 10-4 record. Oakland avenged its loss from the previous year, however, with a 33-14 defeat of the Steelers in the playoffs.

January 29, 1974 - The Steelers select future Hall of Famers Lynn Swann (first round), Jack Lambert (second), John Stallworth (fourth) and Mike Webster (fifth) in the NFL Draft. Many consider it the best draft in NFL history. Following the draft, the Steelers also signed free agent Donnie Shell, who was elected into the Hall of Fame in 2020.

The Steelers won their first of six consecutive AFC Central titles in 1974 and marched past Buffalo (32-14) and Oakland (24-13) en route to their first Super Bowl appearance in Super Bowl IX. The fierce Pittsburgh defense led the way to a 16-6 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, and Art Rooney was presented the Vince Lombardi Trophy for the first time.

In 1975, the Steelers won 11 straight games to finish 12-2 and claimed their second-consecutive division crown. After defeating Baltimore (28-10) and Oakland (16-10) in the playoffs, the Steelers became the third team in NFL history, joining Green Bay and Miami, to win back-to-back Super Bowls with a 21-17 defeat of the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl X.

The 1976 Steelers struggled to a 1-4 start before reeling off nine straight victories, including five shutouts, to win the division with a 10-4 mark. They defeated Baltimore 40-14 in the playoffs, but lost to Oakland 24-7 after both starting running backs, Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier, were injured. The following year, the Steelers dropped a 34-21 decision to Denver in the first round of the playoffs after posting a 9-5 regular-season record.

In 1978, the Steelers made history after a league-best 14-2 regular season and playoff wins versus Denver (33-10) and Houston (34-5). Their 35-31 Super Bowl XIII win versus Dallas made the Steelers the first team to win three Super Bowls.

Yet another standard was set the following year when the 1979 Steelers defeated the Los Angeles Rams 31-19 in Super Bowl XIV to make them the first team in history to win four Super Bowls and the only team to win back-to-back Super Bowls twice. The Super Bowl victory followed a 12-4 regular-season record and playoff wins versus Miami (34-14) and Houston (27-13). With six consecutive AFC Central crowns, eight straight years of playoff appearances and four Super Bowl championships, the Steelers were tagged the "Team of the Decade" for the 1970s.

1980s As the 1980s opened, the Steelers stumbled, failing to make the playoffs in 1980 and 1981 with records of 9-7 and 8-8.

In 1982, the Steelers celebrated the team's 50th anniversary by qualifying for the playoffs with a 6-3 finish in a strike-interrupted season. During the season an anniversary banquet was held to commemorate the team's first 50 seasons and to honor the Steelers' all-time team as selected by fan voting. Thousands of fans were attracted to Pittsburgh for a week of activities and exhibits before the anniversary season was ended by San Diego's 31-28 win in the playoffs. This would be the last playoff game at Three Rivers Stadium until the 1992 season, a span of 10 years.

The 1983 Steelers won their eighth division title with a 10-6 record, but fell in the postseason, 38-10, to the Los Angeles Raiders. The following year the Steelers won their ninth division crown and the team advanced to the AFC Championship game with a 24-17 playoff win at Denver. A 45-28 loss to Miami in the AFC Championship game prevented the Steelers from a fifth Super Bowl appearance.

The Steelers' streak of 13 consecutive non-losing seasons came to an end in 1985 with a 7-9 finish, followed by a 6-10 record in 1986. Playoff hopes remained alive in 1987 until the Steelers lost their last two games to finish 8-7 during the strike-shortened season.

In 1988, the team suffered through its worst campaign in 19 years with a 5-11 record. The next season got off to a similar start with losses of 51-0 and 41-10 in the first two games. But the young team fought back to finish 9-7 and earn a wild card playoff berth on the season's final weekend. An exciting 26-23 overtime playoff win in Houston was followed by a heartbreaking 24-23 divisional playoff loss at Denver in which the Steelers led until the final minutes.

The 1984 Steelers won their ninth division title with a 9-7 record.

STEELERS HISTORY

In 1992, 34-year-old Bill Cowher became the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time. In his first season, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984.

1990s A 9-7 finish in 1990 left the Steelers in a three-way tie for the AFC Central lead, but they were eliminated from playoff contention by a 2-4 division record. The 1991 team finished second in the division despite a 7-9 record, winning the last two games under Noll at home against the Cincinnati Bengals and Cleveland Browns.

On December 26, 1991, Noll announced his retirement from football after 39 consecutive seasons, the last 23 as the Steelers' head coach, which made him one of only four men to coach the same team for 23 consecutive years. He left as the fifth-winningest coach in NFL history with an overall record of 209-156-1, and as the only coach to win four Super Bowls. Noll was rewarded in 1993 with his election to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility.

A new era began in 1992 with the retirement of Noll and the arrival of 34-year-old Bill Cowher, the National Football League's youngest head coach at the time he assumed control. In the first season of the new era, the Steelers won the AFC Central division crown for the first time since 1984 with an 11-5 record. While the team enjoyed new-found success, Cowher was recognized by the Associated Press as the NFL's Coach of the Year and six Steelers were selected to the Pro Bowl, the most in more than a decade.

Under Cowher, the Steelers became the first AFC team since the 1970 merger to claim its 10th division title. Their 11-5 record equaled the best in the conference and gave the Steelers home field advantage throughout the playoffs. However, in the first postseason game at Three Rivers Stadium in exactly 10 years, the Steelers were defeated by eventual AFC Champion Buffalo, 24-3.

In 1993, the Steelers earned a wild card playoff berth, marking their first consecutive playoff appearances since the 1983-84 seasons. A 9-7 record was good for second place in the division, but the season ended in a 27-24 overtime loss at Kansas City in an AFC Wild Card game.

The 1994 Steelers won seven of their final eight regular-season games for their strongest finish since 1978. They captured their second division title in three years with an AFC-best 12-4 record. After a 29-9 victory over the Cleveland Browns in the first round of the playoffs, Pittsburgh hosted its first AFC Championship game since 1979. The game went down to the wire and the Steelers lost to the San Diego Chargers 17-13.

At 38, Bill Cowher became the youngest head coach to lead his team to a Super Bowl appearance in 1995. Along the way, Cowher's team captured its third AFC Central division title in four years, made its fourth straight playoff appearance and won the Steelers' first AFC title since 1979. After a first-round bye, they defeated the Buffalo Bills (40-21) and the Indianapolis Colts (20-16), before losing to the Dallas Cowboys 27-17 in Super Bowl XXX in Tempe, Ariz.

In 1996, the Steelers finished 10-6 and earned their fifth consecutive trip to the playoffs. Cowher ended the season with 57 career victories, ranking him as the second-winningest coach in team history, behind his predecessor Noll.

The Steelers captured their fourth consecutive AFC Central title in 1997 while posting an 11-5 record. They were one play away from earning their sixth Super Bowl appearance but lost to Denver 24-21 in the AFC Championship game.

In 1998, the Steelers finished a disappointing 7-9, losing their last five regular-season games and missing the playoffs for the first time under Cowher.

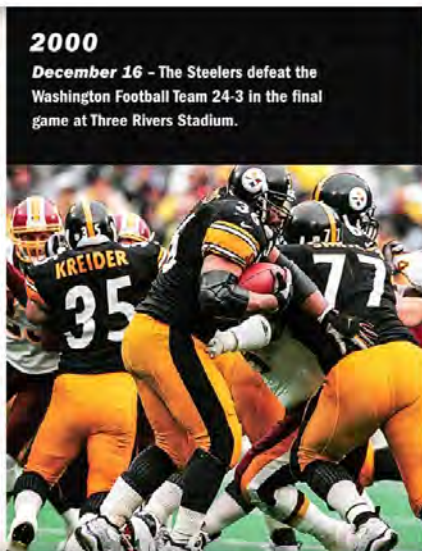

The Steelers suffered their second consecutive losing season in 1999, when their record fell to 6-10.

2000s After starting the 2000 season with an 0-3 record, the Steelers rebounded to finish the year at 9-7 and barely missed the playoffs.

However, 2000 will be remembered most for being the final season for the Steelers at Three Rivers Stadium. The Steelers were 4-4 at home during their final season, including victories in four of their final six home games. The Steelers won their final game at Three Rivers, 24-3, against the Washington Football Team on Dec. 16.

The Steelers finished 31 seasons at Three Rivers Stadium (1970-2000) with a 182-72 home record, including the postseason. The Steelers recorded their largest regular-season home attendance figures (440,428) since 1998 in the final season, including a season-high 58,183 fans during the final game in stadium history.

The Steelers began a new era in team history in 2001 with the opening of their new stadium, Heinz Field. The Steelers posted an AFC-best 13-3 regular-season record, including a 7-1 mark at home, and advanced to the AFC Championship Game.

The inaugural game at Heinz Field was originally scheduled to be a nationally televised Sunday Night game on Sept. 16. However, the September 11 terrorist attacks on America forced the NFL to postpone all games that weekend — which were eventually rescheduled for the end of the season. As a result, the Steelers opened Heinz Field on Sunday, Oct. 7 with a 16-7 win against the Cincinnati Bengals.

The Steelers defeated the defending Super Bowl Champion Baltimore Ravens 27-10 in the AFC Divisional Playoffs, in the first-ever postseason game played at Heinz Field. However, they suffered a disappointing 24-17 loss at home in the AFC Championship Game to the eventual Super Bowl Champion New England Patriots.

After an 0-2 start in 2002, the Steelers rallied to make the playoffs for the second consecutive season. However, the team's Super Bowl hopes ended when they lost 34-31 in overtime to the Tennessee Titans on the road in an AFC Divisional Playoff game.

The Steelers began the 2003 season with a 3-15 victory against AFC North rival Baltimore Ravens. However, the team never regained that magic and finished the year with a 6-10 record and missed the playoffs for the first time in three seasons.

The Steelers set a team record in 2004 by becoming the first AFC team to win 15 games (15-1) in the regular season. They ultimately advanced to the AFC Championship Game where they lost to the New England Patriots 41-27. Nine Steelers were selected to play in the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl, the team's most since the 1979 season.

Pittsburgh found itself sitting at 7-5 after 12 games in 2005, but rallied to win its final four regular-season games to earn the AFC's sixth seed in the playoffs. The Steelers then won an unprecedented three straight road playoff games to gain a berth in Super Bowl XL in Detroit versus the Seattle Seahawks.

Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

Tomlin became the first coach in franchise history to win a division title in each of his first two seasons when the Steelers captured their second consecutive AFC North division title with a 12-4 record in 2008. They went on to defeat the San Diego Chargers and Baltimore Ravens to gain a berth in Super Bowl XLIII in Tampa, Fla., versus the Arizona Cardinals.

The Steelers became the first NFL franchise to capture six Super Bowl titles when they defeated the Cardinals 27-23. With the victory, Tomlin became the youngest coach to win a Super Bowl in NFL history (36 years, 323 days). Wide receiver Santonio Holmes was named MVP after hauling in the game-winning six-yard touchdown pass from Ben Roethlisberger with 35 seconds remaining in regulation.

The Steelers added to their legacy, making it all the way to Super Bowl XLV after a 12-4 record during the 2010 season. The team could not overcome an early 18-point deficit and fell to the Green Bay Packers 31-25. Despite the loss, the Steelers still are tied for the NFL record for most Super Bowl victories with six.

The team donned a CHN commemorative patch in honor of the late Chuck Noll during the 2014 season. The team also retired Joe Greene's No. 75, all during its year of celebrating the team's 40th anniversary of its first championship with a uniform patch in 2014.

On April 13, 2017, the Steelers lost their Hall of Fame owner and Chairman, Ambassador Dan Rooney. The team wore a commemorative patch in honor of the late Mr. Rooney throughout the 2017 season.
